Startling conditions were revealed with regard to the Kula pipeline by a committee of the Mani chamber of commerce at last meeting. There has been expended on the construction of the pipeline and branches, by the territory but at the cost of the county, $175,000. Maintenance of the system costs $400 a month, which with interest on the bonds and floating debt holds its first quarterly meeting at makes $11,000 a year. Income from the Honolulu Library in the lecture the system amounts to less than $2000 a year. The taxpayers of Maui have therefore to make good a deficit of Prepared Paint on your building, $9000 a year, besides putting aside you'd better see Lewers & Cooke at $3750 for the sinking fund. It was urged by the committee that the system should be put into businesslike shape. A new storage reservoir is Cwl a-going! This second reading silenced the leader of the opposition. He had stated just before that he still beleived the territory should bear the expense, which will be about $20,000, as it will derive a benefit from the work of the commission. Combating his argument was that made by Senator Judd in which he pointed out that by means of the investigation the county should recover much of the misused money, and therefore it could afford to bear the onus of the expense. So the bill as originally written has passed the senate, and will go to the house for its approval.

It's surely the right time to C. Brewer & Co. about fire insurance. The wrong time comes after the house burns down.
